THROWING OF BOMB
STARTED DISTURBANCE

A Jewish Anarchist Hurling It Into Corps Christ Procession, Killing Many.

Bialystok, Russia, June 15.—A Jewish anarchist threw a bomb among the Corpus Christi procession, which was in progress here yesterday, and killed or wounded many persons. In consequence the Christians attacked and massacred the Jews and demolished their shops. Hundreds of persons were killed or wounded.

The bomb was thrown from the balcony of a house in Alexandrov street. A Russian clergyman named Fedoroff was among those killed by the explosion.

Immediately after the explosion Jews began to fire with revolvers from the windows of the house into the crowds. Soldiers surrounded the house and fired two volleys into the windows. Meanwhile the exasperated Christians attacked the Jewish stores in Alexandrov and Suraz streets, demolishing the fixtures and windows and throwing the goods into the gutters and beating and murdering the Jews. A crowd of Jews fled to the railroad station, pursued by the mob, which killed many of them there. Three Jews were thrown from second story windows of the railroad station building.

The Jews are fleeing from Bialystok to the neighboring forests and moors are pursuing them. Detachments of dragoons have been sent out to protect the Jews.

Jews arriving here on railroad trains have been dragged out of the cars and many of them have been murdered. Troops have cleared the railway station.

MUST PAY FOR HORSE.

George Edson of West Lebanon, N. H., Lost in His Case.

Chelsea, June 14th.—The first civil case ready for trial was a case in assumpsit, W. S. Williams of Bradford vs. W. G. and L. H. Chase of Plymouth, N. H. The plaintiff sought to recover a balance alleged to be due on a contract in which the plaintiff was to cut and deliver into the Connecticut river all the hardwood lumber above a certain size on a lot owned by the defendants on or before a certain date. The case was very close contested and a verdict was rendered by the jury through its foreman, Calvin Goodwin, for the plaintiff to recover $140.11.

The next case ready for trial was Charles L. Holman of Randolph vs. Geo. Edson of West Lebanon, N. H. It appeared that the plaintiff delivered to the defendant under an agreement that if the horse proved satisfactory the defendant was to pay $125 for the same; and it further appeared that after a few weeks the defendant notified the plaintiff that the horse was not what he wanted, but would continue to use the same until the plaintiff would remove it after some weeks the horse received an injury in the stall, from which it ultimately died, and from these circumstances resulted this suit, in which the jury returned through its foreman, Arthur J. Grant of Orange, a verdict for the plaintiff to recover the sum of $150 damages and costs.

The third case ready for trial is an action in assumpsit of Charles Thurston of Bradford vs. Ward Carpenter of Belows Falls. The case is on trial at the time of this report.

The grand jury, after a ten days' session, reporting their findings on Wednesday morning, when they reported through their foreman, Fred W. Farnham of Vershire, ten bills not found and ten true bills found. This was the longest grand jury term since 1902.

RUNAWAYS STIR THINGS UP.

But No One Was Hurt at Marshfield This Morning.

Marshfield, June 15.—A runaway and general smashup made things lively in town this morning. Road commissioner O. H. Smith drove his team to Mr. Menz' store and as he jumped out, his horse turned its head in time to see the movement, and jumped ahead rushing in front of a pair of horses owned by Herbert Ellis, which were hitched at the stone rail at the store. Ellis' horse was away, taking a wide circle around town, unloading milk cans and things in general. Then the pair took to the sidewalk and ran into the cellar and rubbish of the burned district below McCall's store, overturned and made kindling-wood of the wagon body. Back they ran to the Burton house, going around that, down street again in among the milk teams at the creamery, where it was finally stopped. No one was hurt however, and everything was jolly as ever.

Willey of Barre, he having been selected by the company as its mustering officer and duly commissioned by Major General Stoddard, who issued the necessary orders from department headquarters at St. Paul, Minn. Major Willey was assisted in the work by Col. C. M. Brownell of Burlington, commanding the first regiment of Vermont, Col. N. J. Roberts of Barre, Capt. C. H. Bergeron of Barre, Adjutant F. E. As soon as the wants of the inner man had been supplied, cigars were passed and the company again repaired to Castle Hall, where toasts were in order, Major Willey toastmaster.

Grand Chancellor J. T. He was followed by Colonel Brownell, Colonel Roberts, Colonel Tinker, Captain Bergeron and Adjutant Robinson, all of whom made well chosen remarks.

Major Willey then called on the officers of the new company, Captain E. C. Pitkin, First Lieutenant H. G. Townsend, Second Lieutenant B. L. Phelps, Recorder W. O. Southwick, Guard A. J. Merrill and Sentinel E. C. Merrill, followed by J. Berton Pike, who spoke in behalf of the rank and file.

The company will make its first appearance in public next Sunday, attending the Knights of Pythias memorial services in the Methodist church, in full dress uniform.

BURKE STANDS FIRM.

Will Not Fuse With Clement Under Any Consideration.

Burlington, June 15.—That Mayor James E. Burke is emphatically not in favor of fusion with the Clement forces was manifested yesterday, when the mayor stated that under no consideration would he be in favor of supporting Clement, and that he would not run with Mr. Clement on the ticket for lieutenant governor.

"I see no advantage to be gained by fusing," said Mr. Burke. "Mr. Clement runs with a clean conscience, but not with the Democrats to help him. And it would certainly not help the Democrats. Let the members of the party stick by it."

Regarding his own candidacy for governor he is not worrying. If he gets the nomination, well and good. If he does not he will keep right on doing as he has done. Burlington Democrats and those of Chittenden county are of course for him and he is likely to have a strong following in some of the other counties, especially those where there is a large labor union vote. The rock-ribbed Democrats will stick by him.

New Canaan, Conn., June 15.—The body of Selsiek Dunn, an aged basket-maker, was found in the bottom of a well on his place yesterday. Dunn had been missing about a week and some of the neighbors today instituted a search which resulted in finding the body. The interior of his house was in confusion and in his sleeping room the deputy sheriff found a bloodstained bath. There were three wounds on the side of the head, which it is said, may have been caused by a hatchet. CROWDED ELECTRIC CAR
DERAILED BY DESIGN

Piece of Marble Had Been Placed on the Track of the Rutland Street Railway Company—No One Was Injured.

Rutland, June 15.—Car 39 of the Rutland street railway company, leaving this city at 8:55 o'clock last night for Fair Haven and containing about 50 passengers, was derailed by unknown parties at a point between Fair Haven and Central Vermont. No one was injured. A block of marble which had been placed on the outer rail by some miscreant, was the cause of the accident. As soon as the forward truck of the heavy open car struck this piece of marble, the wheels left the rails, the front end of the car crashing into a trolley pole, which was snapped off at the base. With the pole came the trolley wires, which were scattered on both sides of the highway.

The car plunged down an embankment for a distance of eight feet. Beyond a severe shaking up, none of the passengers were injured. The car was not seriously injured.

The officials of the road state that the accident was doubtless the work of some malicious person or persons. Wednesday night a car was derailed in a similar manner at West Rutland.

He was taken to his home on South street, where it was found that his right arm was broken and he was injured internally. He died about a half hour after the accident.

Mr. Boucher came to this town about fifty years ago from Canada and for the last few years had been so feeble that he was unable to labor. He leaves a wife and two daughters, Mrs. C. A. Degenais of this town and Mrs. O. A. Perham of Nashua.

ORANGE CO. GRAMMAR SCHOOL CENTURY OLD

Anniversary of Its Founding Observed at Randolph Centre Yesterday With Appropriate Exercises.

Randolph Centre, June 15.—The celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the old Orange county grammar school was observed here yesterday with suitable exercises, including an anniversary exercises at the Congregational church in honor of Edward Conant, a former principal of the old grammar school and first principal of the normal school. The anniversary address was delivered by Prof. Walter Howard of Middlebury college. A banquet was served in a tent at 1:30, which was attended by nearly 200 friends and former students. The day concluded with a reception and musical at the residence of Principal C. H. Morrill.

Vermont is accorded the honor of having the first normal training school in the country. The voters of Randolph in 1793 petitioned the general assembly "for liberty to set up an academy in this town." In 1807 it was voted to build a grammar school house. In 1804 a deed of the land was secured, and in 1806 the school was chartered. This continued as the Orange County Grammar school until 1806, when it was constituted a normal school for the state.

The first appropriation by the state for its support was $300 in 1807, but since 1809 an annual appropriation of $5,000 has been made and tuition has been free to all residents of the state. There have been only four principals since the institution became a normal school. Edward Conant, A. E. Leavenworth, A. E. Edson and Charles H. Morrill. Mr. Conant resigned in 1875 to take charge of the normal school at Johnson, and returned in 1884, remaining in charge of the school until his death in 1903.

'06 CLASS DAY
WAS SUCCESS

Exercises Held at the Opera House

BEFORE A LARGE CROWD

Usual Parts of Programme With the Unique Feature in Connection With the Class Prophecy—Alumni Banquet Held.

The class of 1906, Spaulding high school, entertained a large audience at the opera house yesterday afternoon with their class day exercises. Generally the exercises of that day are held at the Spaulding building, but the increasing size of the class and the larger audiences each year made it necessary to transfer them to the larger building this year. The members of the high school occupied a large section of the auditorium, and their friends filled the remainder. The stage was transformed by the skillful placing of ferns and plants, and on the whole the arrangements were an improvement, although the audience was somewhat disturbed by its noise of main street.

The classes were marshalled to the position assigned them by Alexander Smith and James E. Carswell, president of the class, introduced the participants. Following a piano solo by Miss Jessie Spear, President Carswell welcomed the guests in behalf of the class. A reading was given by Miss Georgina Trail, and then something unique in the line of class prophecy was presented by Misses Bessie Jones, Grace McDonald and Marcia Marden and William C. Ayers and Sidney Arthur Wallace.

Those five acted the part of persons in Barre fifteen years hence and meeting in the Aldrich library (built of granite). Miss Jones, who had just returned from Damascus was greatly surprised on her way home to whiz past Montpelier Junction (there was no junction), to have the mail dropped off at Montpelier, a way station, and to roll into the Grand Central station at Barre. In fact, she was so surprised that she could scarcely believe she was in Barre, even when told by her classmates. The Aldrich library (not yet erected) was the meeting-place of the five, and there they told of the activities of their classmates, each announcement being received by the audience with amusement or applause. Following this the five withdrew to the Great Eastern hotel (noted the irony), kept by Mr. Ayers, for dinner.

"Deeds, not words," was the theme of a thoughtful essay by Miss Mildred Phelps, who received honorable mention for her work in the school, and after a duet by Misses Theresa Scott and Bessie Jones, Max Fisher, the secretary of the class, presented the class will, in which things both material and intangible were handed along to the undergraduates and teachers. Miss Mary McWhorter delivered the address to the middle class, the coming seniors, and Ray Worthen responded.

A picture of the Roman Forum, the gift of the class to the school, was presented by Arthur Gordon and received by Miss Una Averill in behalf of the school. The address to the members of the graduating class was delivered by Harold Edmondson, and after a vocal solo by Miss Scott, the middlers, through Horace Sowles, Fred Noel and Misses Kittie Allen, Shirley Bradford
